Dear Wendy,

What a super surprise to receive your call today. When Bill + I first met you, we felt a kinship that made us comfortable, with you selling our prized possessions. Not once, have we rejoiced at our good fortune, but many times over the pain of letting go everything around us, even though quite replaceable, the years of collection and quiet peace of "ones home front" shattered, in such quick order, could have been absolutely devastating had not it been for your expert handling and added sense of dealing with "its owners" gently but in a managerial manner. You and your staff are
